

October 9, 2008

Hello to all!

This has been a monumental task for me, and a dream for the last four years. Life has its ugly twists and turns, and now, here we are! Just in the last few months, I was derailed by accidentally erasing all the info I had just spend a full day updating. And last week, I called my web server peeps to get changed over from a Linux-based server to a Windows-based server. I was told this process would take 24-48 hours. It took almost a week. This was after I wrote everyone individually and told them it would be up in a couple of days.

I am learning a lot about website design. The site may not look like much, and, well, let's face it, it's not. But it does have the start of what could turn into a big adventure for me, and hopefully, an extra income for you. One thing I learned that will help search engines find this demo singers page is to link your site to my page. I have your links on my page, but the more of you who can put my page link on your sites, the higher the ranking my page will be on search engines. So if you are inclined to put the link on your site, whether it be a personal site or a Myspace page, please do so, at your discretion of course.

Please check out the link for the demo singers page and make sure your information is correct and complete. If information is missing, please email me with the additional info that is needed. If you wish to be taken off the list at any time, please email me. It is not my intent to negatively exhibit or misrepresent anyone in this venture. I will be doing my best to keep this site updated on a regular basis. If you need anything changed pertaining to your information, and it's not done with one email, please email again. Sometimes emails fall into the dreaded spam folder, or if I get bombarded with emails, it could be unintentionally overlooked. Please bear with me.

Also, I was able to add everyone's name to this mass emailing. I've been told there is a limit to the number of names you can add to a group within Outlook Express. If this is true, I may have to rely on mass communication through the website, which you will be able to check on your own. This letter will be available asap in a PDF format.

One final note: I mentioned switching over to a Windows-based server. This will be helpful in the future when I learn how to put my columns in a header, and web users can click on each header to sort a desired column alphabetically. I admit I don't know how to do this yet. That is another reason for the delay in publishing the site. If anyone knows how and can assist me, I would be extremely grateful.

Thanks to all of you for your patience!

Mark

http://theaudiobooth.com/Demo_Singers/singers.htm